The Corporation in the 21st Century

By John Kay

Vets say they are under pressure to bring in more money per pet

Ford River Rouge Complex 1927

Cupertino

We should eat, breathe and sleep the world of aeronautics

Bill Allen, CEO of Boeing, 1967

When the headquarters is located in proximity to a principal business—as ours was in Seattle—the corporate center is inevitably drawn into day-to-day business operations

Phil Condit, CEO of Boeing 2001

When people say I changed the culture of Boeing, that was the intent, so it's run like a business rather than a great engineering firm. It is a great engineering firm, but people invest in a company because they want to make money.

Harry Stonecipher, CEO of Boeing, 2004

ICI 1987

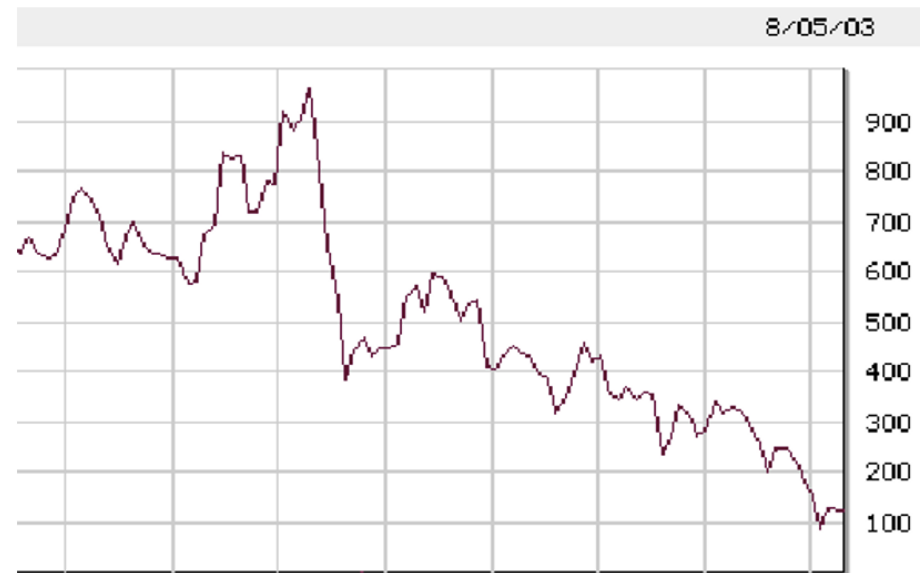

“ICI aims to be the world’s leading chemical company, serving customers internationally through the innovative and responsible application of chemistry and related science.

Through achievement of our aim, we will enhance the wealth and well-being of our shareholders, our employees, our customers and the communities which we serve and in which we operate”.

ICI 1994

“Our objective is to maximise value for our shareholders by focusing on businesses where we have market leadership, a technological edge and a world competitive cost base”.
