01 About Us

UDF-Space: China's First
Cross-Border Financial Industrial Internet

www.udfspace.com

-  An Industrial Internet focusing on cross-border finance
-  Integrating cross-border financial services of licensed institutions worldwide
-  Reach, convert and retain clients based on business scenarios
-  The bridge connecting you with global client

01 About Us

UDF-Space: Connect the world's high-end financial services in China

- Global financial application scenarios are more open, international supervision is stricter, clients' demand is stronger, and the bottleneck of industry-financial connection is more prominent, which are happening on a global scale.
- It is urgent to aggregate financial elements to improve service efficiency.

UDF-Space: International and domestic regulatory support Compliance operation

International financial regulation

- International Financial Stability Board (FSB) standard definition of FinTech:
"Financial innovation brought by technology can produce new business models, applications, processes or products, which will have a significant impact on the financial market, financial institutions or the way of providing financial services."
- Core application areas of FinTech of Basel Committee on Banking Supervision: Financial market infrastructure services
 - Portal and data aggregation site

Domestic regulation of cross-border financial services

- Openness to Cross Border Trade:
The "positive list" approach, commitment to market access and opening-up, is limited to the following financial services: (1) Insurance services, including reinsurance; international ocean freight, air freight and transportation insurance; large commercial insurance brokerage, international ocean freight, air freight and transportation insurance brokerage and reinsurance brokerage. (2) Securities services, including B shares trading directly by foreign securities companies (not via Chinese intermediaries). (3) Financial information and data services, including provision and transfer of financial information, financial data processing and software related to other financial service providers; consulting, intermediary and other supporting services regarding relevant activities specified in the Schedule of Concessions, including credit standing investigation and analysis, investment and securities research and advice, advice on acquisitions and advice on company reorganization and strategy making.
- Openness to Commercial Presence:
The negative list of foreign investment access in the financial industry has been officially cleared.
